Ain't She Sweet

Mary Bride

is usually the first person students and community members meet when they enter Mill River High School. From her "desk" Mrs. Bride has the best seat in the house when it comes to monitoring the comings and goings of the Mill River population. More than one person has remarked on the parallels between Mrs. Bride at her desk and a ship's Captain at the helm.

Clichéd comparisons aside, Mrs. Bride's role at Mill River is far more than watch-commander/secretary/receptionist. She has been a director of plays for Stage 20 (in addition to assisting the theatre program in many other ways); an organizer of graduation ceremonies; coordinator of caps & gowns; Grad Night strategist...and on. All-seeing, all-knowing, she's the school's central nervous system. "Go ask Mrs. Bride," is a phrase that is spoken innumerable times on any given day. Though it's all too rarely acknowledged, members of the Mill River community are well aware of the importance of Mary Bride's role in the school's past, present and future.

And aside from all that, how many people do you think would handle "tardies" with such finesse every morning?

So, Mrs. Bride, for all that you do, this book's for you.

Mary Bride: You're the Sweetest!

A Majestic "CAROUSEL" Takes a Turn at Mill River

by Kendra Fortin

Whoever said small town life was boring? Well not in this small town. For three nights in November characters such as Billy Bigelow (Mark Hyland), Julie Jordan (Abbey Harlow), and others from Carousel's large cast came to life as Mill River's Stage 40 presented "Carousel."

The musical was a huge production with acting, dancing, and lots of singing. The enormous task of creating the set was handled by Stage 40's first-rate tech crew. As always, under the wonderful direction of Peter Marsh, this season's production was a beautifully crafted recreation of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel."

The production also took to the road, presenting a scene from Act 1 in Boston at the New England Theater Conference. As Stage Manager Lucy Thayer said, it was "an awesome show."

A Night of 10-Minute Plays

By Kara Haynes

Following Stage 40's lavish production of "Carousel" its next presentation, "A Night of 10-Minute Plays" showcased many of Mill River's students as playwrights. Seven plays were performed each evening and nine had staged readings.

Lucy Thayer wrote "Hidden Expectations" and also directed a play called "Being An Escapist" written by Alex Petrovich. Mark Hyland wrote "A Baseball to Julliard" and directed "Doc or Not" by Chris Hall. Evan Lindorff-Ellery premiered his play, "Spiral Out." Matt Henkel, a 1997 Mill River grad, presented his "Corporate Handbook: Line 11." For the seventh play of the evening, Mill River hosted "Whiskey and Women" by Meghan Kiernan, a student at MSI, directed by Stage 40 makeup advisor Carrie Dinnan.

All seven plays drew their casts from the Mill River student population. Alex Petrovich and James Cote portrayed a father and son dealing with a family secret in Lucy Thayer's "Hidden Expectations". In "Spiral Out" by Evan Lindorff-Ellery, A young woman (Rachel Fredette) tries to draw a reclusive friend (Justin LaFantano) out into society. The cast of Mark Hyland's play, "A Baseball to Julliard", Steven Query, Luke Hoffman, and Ben Aleshire, presented a story of a young man who must face life-altering decisions "with a twist." Reggie Richards-Peele and Jenna Carlson starred in "Being An Escapist" by Alex Petrovich, a play about escaping reality. Nick Welch, Tim Ahlers, and Delia French appeared in "Corporate Handbook: Line 11" written by Mill River alum Matt Henkel. In the play, an autistic idiot savant confronts the idiosyncratic absurdities of the corporate world. Tiernan Martin, Evan Lindorff-Ellery, Lucy Thayer, and Abbey Harlow made up the cast of "Whiskey and Women" a raucous play set in a Wild West barroom. Chris Hall's play "Doc or Not," featured performers Kyle Aines, James Cote, Carl Joehnk, and Kelsey Crelin.

The nine plays that received staged readings were written by Dan Arthur-Sgalia, Emily Baker, Adam Beckley, Ashley Connors, Leanne Corey, James Cote, Jillian Earle, Nick Mitchell, and Steven Query. Most of the plays performed over the two evenings came out of Mr. Marsh's Theatre Arts class, led by professional Vermont playwright Dana Yeaton.

The plays were performed on January 25th and 26th, 2002.

MUSIC

Every year many Mill River musicians audition for one or more music festivals. In grades 7-12, they may audition for the Green Mountain District Music Festival; in grades 9-12, they may also audition for the Vermont All State Music Festival and the New England Music Festival. This year there were approximately 110 auditions from Mill River. This includes multiple auditions by some students who auditioned for more than one ensemble. All of our auditioning students are to be commended for their hard work and accomplishments. Though not all results have been received at press time, congratulations go to the students listed below who, as of this writing, have earned a place in music festivals.

Grateful acknowledgment is also due Mrs. Mary Ellen Harlow (vocal) and Mr. Geoff Andress (instrumental) for their dedication to nurturing the talents of young musicians, and for making it possible for the entire community to enjoy the results.

Congratulations James!

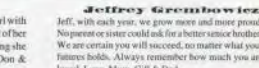

Zach Furman

Dear Zac, My wish for you is that you always have people to laugh with and be close to, things to dream about and work hard for, places to grow up in and to live on all that is good in the world and especially in you. May you always know how much you are thought of and loved. Love Mom

Heather Jones

On May 8-1984, we were blessed with a baby girl with whom we are very proud of. She has achieved all of her goals. And we know she will accomplish anything she put her mind to. We love you Mom & Dad, Don & Marion Jones

Jeffrey Greenbowicz

Jeff, with each year, we grow more and more proud. No parent or sister could ask for a better senior brother. We are certain you will succeed, no matter what your futures holds. Always remember how much you are loved. Love, Mom, Gill & Dad

Rebecca Meguin

When you started nursery school, you were ready to conquer the world. That world is now yours to have. Reach for the stars and keep believing in yourself. Always remember that your family loves you. We are proud of you Becky! Love, Mom, Dad, Dave, Sean, Wren & "Hankie"

Greg Krantz

Greg, Once you were little, as short as our knees. Now you are grown, as tall as young trees. You're wise, fun-loving and can be a tease. We know you'll succeed in whatever you please! Love, Mom and Dad

Eric Parker

Who would have thought a little dream would come true? We know you will go far. We will always be behind you and love you. Mom and Dad

Heather Leonard

Congratulations! To a classy gal with country pride who belts out jazz from her soul inside. You rock our world and that's no rap. Keep singing your song, we'll always clap. With Love and Pride, Dad and Mom
